

Call for Papers

Following the tradition of previous conferences on Knowledge, Information and Creativity Support Systems, KICSS'2013 will cover all aspects of knowledge management, knowledge engineering, intelligent information systems, and creativity in an information technology context, including computational creativity, and its cognitive and collaborative aspects. Papers reporting original unpublished research results on theoretical foundations, IT implementations of decision support and expert systems, as well as case studies of successful applications of the above-mentioned ideas in various fields are equally solicited.

The list of conference topics includes but is not limited to:

- Anticipatory networks, systems, and decisions
- Autonomous creative systems
- Cognitive and psychological issues in creativity research
- Cognitive foundations of knowledge
- Collaborative activities in Living Labs
- Collaborative idea generation and creativity
- Collaborative working environments fostering creativity
- Complex system modelling
- Computer-aided creativity
- Creativity support systems
- Decision sciences
- Decision support systems
- Foresight support systems
- General Creative Systems
- Information fusion
- Knowledge in multi-agent systems
- Knowledge extraction, creation, and acquisition
- Knowledge integration
- Knowledge representation and reasoning
- Living Lab support systems
- Multicriteria decision making
- Non-monotonic reasoning
- Ontology creation and management
- Organizational learning
- Reasoning about knowledge
- Uncertainty modelling
- Web intelligence tools

Further topics can be found on the conference website www.kicss2013.ipbf.eu/call-for-papers

Submission of Papers

- Regular papers on all the above topics should be formatted according to the Springer CS Proceedings (LNCS) format and should not exceed 12 pages. Short and demo papers as well as research-in-progress reports should not exceed 6 pages according to the above format.
- The KICSS 2013 papers can be submitted via EasyChair at: <https://www.easychair.org/conferences/?conf=kicss2013>
- Submissions that overlap substantially with any other papers printed, submitted, or accepted for publication or presentation elsewhere are not allowed.
- Each author may present up to two papers. An additional fee for the second paper will apply.
- The KICSS'2013 Post-Proceedings will be published in the Springer Series: Advances in Intelligent Systems and Computing (AISC), ISSN 2194-5357. AISC is indexed by ISI Proceedings, SCOPUS, EI-Compindex, Zentralblatt Math, DBLP, MetaPress, Ulrich's, Springerlink, see more at <http://www.springer.com/series/11156>. They will contain all the revised regular papers and - following an extension - a selection of research-in-progress reports as well as short papers. In addition, all accepted papers will appear in the Documentation Volume with an ISBN number that will be distributed to the participants at the conference.
- The authors of the selected best papers presented at the Conference will be invited to submit the revised and extended versions of their contributions to special issues of high-rank scientific journals.
- The best papers written and presented by PhD and MSc students will be awarded the KICSS'2013 Prizes. Eligible authors should provide a proof of their full-time student status with their registration and be no more than 35 years old at the time of the conference.
